"As we learn to do by doing, to draw by drawing, to sing by singing, so we learn to read by reading, and we learn to love good literature by reading it. The best method to create an interest in good reading, is to give literature to read, and to cause him to see its beauties, when he will love it. While some things are of frightful mien,

That to be hated need but to be seen, | T good literature is of such an attractive mien that to be loved, needs to be understood."

Parents and teachers should make pupils feel, that their school work is their business. They should give strict attention to it as does a merchant or any other business man to his work, for upon their success now depends it when they enter the actual business of life. The pupil who is careless and The Largest and Best Weekly News slovenly in his or her work will be an individual whose business will be eonducted in the same way.

"RECITATION."

Variety is absolutely essential for pupils, if we would keep them inter ested and wide at all times. There are many methods of conducting a class exercise, but no one of the number should be adhered to exclusively. For the greatest to be desired from a reci- receive your subscription, or address. tation, we should so adapt our methods and matter as to develop the pupil's ability in the most ways possible; we should in all recitations seek to develop correct language, by using it and requiring its use by our pupils; develop the thinking faculties, by leading our pupils to think clearly and to the fidence of ability in the pupils before us. Some of the many methods are than others.

Allow me to enumerate some of the standard methods: the "Socratic," "Topical," question, discussion, con- ing for an order for the sale of certain versational and lecture methed. I real estate of which said Morgan Mace, shall try to enumerate some of the ad

The topical methods presents to a certain degree, a picture of a lesson; if properly followed in all its bearings it is an indelible stamp or imprint of the lesson on the mind. There seems to be more latitude for variety in the application of this method than most others. The pupils may be easily trained to make their own outline of a lesson or the teacher may present the outline and the pupils can amplify it, or the pupils and teacher working together may make the outlines. Have some of your class put an outline on the board and then without books recite from the outline, the several pupils reciting different topics of the outline.

Cure for Piles.

PILES are frequently proceeded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a very common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the Tumors, allaying the intense itching, and affecting a permanent cure. Price, 50 cents. Address, The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, Ohio. Sold by P. R. Crisp, Ironton.
